

SEED IS LIFE

The Creator made a perfect Earth. The balance made to sustain and give the opportunity for a perpetual enduring life of Earth is meticulous beyond any conceivable imagination. All things were designed to work in a great process of order for a happy and meaningful existence for all that live. Everything was provided to ensure that the possibility of a forever Earth life. The seed is the proof and the most profound gift that the life of Earth was created to be everlasting.

The myriad life systems of Earth were designed to work in a great concert of harmony. The biosystems and the wonders of the ecological parts of Earth were made to have specific purpose and function, all forms of life and the supposed non-life elements were given Original Instructions on their purpose and the responsibilities each have in sustaining life. All life systems of Earth have been true to their purpose as they continue to do their part to keep and sustain the creation, except for one.

The four peoples of mankind were also given roles and responsibilities through the Original Instructions. Humankind have the same composition of life elements and energies as the rest of created life, we are no more important or more significant than the supposed simpler life forms. It may be that we are a lesser life form than other life entities. In our pitiful perception we think that we are more complex than supposed lesser life forms. But they may have greater status in the great scheme of life than humans, considering their physical composition is less involved and has less complexity, thus in a final analysis it takes more for us and less for them to have the same breath of life.

Human life is special as we have the capacity to reason and the ability to exert dominion over other life forms. Of the four colors of humanity, one decided that it shall have dominion, control over other parts of creation. It is that reasoning and decision to control and exploit that has resulted in a desecration of creation and that has upset the balance of Earth. The equilibrium of life has been taken out balance and the meticulous process of life is greatly and dangerously disturbed and destabilized.

The audacity of Western thought that has presumed a superiority over all other life including other colors of man is contrary to the order and purpose of the creation of the Earth. The unrelenting quest for domination has moved beyond the control and exploitation of the surface and physically accessible elements. The manipulation of the essence of life, the intrusion and attempts to control life and exert superiority over creation is the greatest and most dangerous threat.

The misguided manipulators of life attempt to alter the genetics of seeds for the sake of power and greed, the greed for materiality, for more money. Their manipulating to change the life of seeds is a tampering of the spiritual energy of the seed. This is a direct naked challenge to God the Creator. This foolishness may give them a false sense of domination, superiority, and power with an increase in their bank accounts. But this idiocy only further offsets the balance of life and thus shortens the life of Earth and all the living upon and within her.

The black tribe was given knowledge of water, the yellow tribe was given stewardship of the air, the white tribe was given guardianship of fire. The red tribe is entrusted to nurture and care for the Earth and so we defend the Earth. We, the Red Tribe and the Indigenous of the world who remain connected to our Earth Mother, we remain strong in our song and ceremony in our responsibility to keep her, to defend her and honor her. We are keepers of the seed, the sacred and holy essence of life.
